Report on Fire Safety Management and mock drill

25.11.2017

Natural disasters are unsolicited situations in which one should be ready to face and manage the calamities. In this regard the NSS cell and Youth Red Cross organized the fire safety management and mock drill program to orient and train the NSS volunteers to fight against the fire disaster at any given point of time.

Dr Kumaraswamy R NSS program coordinator discussed with the Fire Station about the need of conducting such program in medical college and hospital. Sri Raghavendra of Kolar fire station agreed for conduction of demonstration and mock drill regards to fire breakout.

Sri Raghavendra delivered the guest lecture on importance of awareness about fire safety management. Later as a preparatory for mock drill the NSS volunteers, Doctors, Nursing staff, security guards and supporting staffs of the various departments were divided in to the various groups like raising the alarm, rescue team, firefighting team, first aid team, etc. and assigned the duties and responsibilities need to be followed during mock drill.

Sri Raghavendra and his team virtually demonstrated the various parts of the firefighting engine and precautions to be taken during the process. He also demonstrated how to use and which specific fire extinguishers in specific types of fires outbreaks.

Next day, without notifying the trained groups, controlled fire and smoke was established. Immediately the trained groups got activated and executed their responsibilities. The whole event was under the supervision of Sri Raghavendra and Dr Kumaraswamy R who expressed their satisfaction about the performance of the teams.

To conclude the fruitful completion of the program Dr Kumaraswamy R and Dr Sagar V program officer Youth Red Cross honored Sri Raghavendra and his team with mementoes. Dr Sagar V proposed the vote of thanks for all those who participate and made the event a grand success. He expressed his special oblige and sincere
