Section 375 IPC says, “sexual intercourse with a woman against her will, without her consent, by coercion, misrepresentation, or fraud or at a time when she has been intoxicated or duped, or is of unsound mental health and in any case, if she is under 18 years of age” is considered rape.

Rape is heinous sexual crime, still a significant issue in India. It refers to forced oral, anal or vaginal penetration which is done against the will or consent of the victim. The investigation of such sexual assault cases is aided by the medical examination of rape victims.

Medical examinations of rape victims hold significant value as it facilitates criminal trial by providing crucial evidence in relation to the crime. It is important in determining the offender of the crime and is considered as a critical evidentiary value in the case.
